O'Brien and Walcott Fought Ten Rounds-Decision a Draw, in Keeping with an Agreement Made Before the Contest.

BOSTON, April 21. — "Philadelphia ack" O'Brien and Joe Walcott fought n rounds to a draw before the Healit Physical Culture Club last night. The decision was in keeping with an agreement that if both men were their feet at the finish such a verdict uld be made. The crowd was much displeased and shouted its derision when leaving the building.

The bout, as originally arranged, was have been fifteen rounds, but just afore the men entered the ring it was seided to cut it to ten rounds, and desided to cut it to ten rounds, and O'Brien would not fight unless the decision would be a draw if both men were on their feet at the end.

"Rube" Waddell, the Athletics' pitcher, was referee, but his task was comparatively easy because of the agreement between the men. O'Brien had a slight advantage throughout. The negro was handicapped in height and reach, and when pressed hard by O'Brien resorted to clinching.

In the preliminary bowts John Butler knocked out John Johnson in the eighth round, and Harry Snelling beat Tim Harrington in two rounds.

LOVE WAS GOOD, BUT FORBES IS HIS MASTER.

(Special to The Evening World.)
PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—Tommy
Love, the local bantam-weight, put up a surprisingly good fight against Harry Forbes, of Chicago, last night. Many however, proved a tough customer and made Forbes work very hard. The champion gave a splendid exhibition, and although the local man reached his face and body a number of times, he did not forget himself for one moment. Love showed a willingness to fight and gameness that won him a host of friends, but had the sixth round lasted one minute longer he would have succumbed. Just before the gong Forbes caught his man on the law and completely turned him round. Love was staggering blindly when Forbes set himself to deliver the blow soporific, but it was too ste. Before the blow could be delivered he bell rang and Love was saved from a mockout.

Up to the sixth round Love had made most creditable of the publication of prices on the succession.

Day. The conditions of the bout will show clearly whether or not Terry is a legitimate feather-weight. Sam Harris, acting for Terry, and lke Bloom, who manages Attel, agreed that the boys weigh in at 122 pounds at 3 o'clock on the day of the contest.

McGovern will begin to train at an early date, and says he will strip in time condition. He realizes the effect of his last defeat, but says he is determined to show that he is entitled to another go with "Corbett."

Attel is a well-known young boxer, and has been busy recently. He is a very clever man and is confident he can hold his own with Terry.

Goldsmith is said to have returned to his two-year-old form. Then he was one of the gamest youngsters that ever faced the starter. Bonniver is a cripple. They are growing new feet on him just now. He is not likely to be ready.

BROOKLYNS SCOREFIRST IN GAME WITH GIANTS

Lauder gathered in McCreedie's foul. Matty's curves rolled twice to starboard and port while the rooters roared. His nerves seemed still to wobble when he handed a good one to Sheckard, which the Brooklyn boy lined at ms feet. He tried to double with Lauder but the ball went wide and Strang and Sheckard filled both bags. While Warner, ball in hand, was holding court with the umpire Strang stole third and the crowd thytoed. Householder sizzled a scorcher between Lauder and Dahlen and Strang scored. Matty got the shakes out of his knees and bent three straight ones over the plate while Capt. Doyle blinked until counted out. Dahlen lifted a high fly to infield, which MeGann's half-hearted effort to Dahlen counted him out to Doyle. Bresnaha die likewise with the same result. Babb smote thrice valniy, the band played and the rooters chortled with give. No runs.

Sammy Strang got a hit yesterday. It was his first in the big league this year. A facetious fan yelled "Extra!" when he made it.

A better outfielder in the Nationa League than Jimmy Sheckard probably does not exist. At catching hard hits Jimmy leads. With the bat he is good. At base-running he excels. The Polo Grounds fans have a debate on now. They are trying to settle the question as to which of the two players. McGraw or Gilbert, can get the bal away the quickest. Jack Warner behind the bat kept th Brooklyn runners hugging the corners of the bases when the men reached them Undress was the order last night at Amann & Triess's bowling alleys, where The Evening World championship tournament is being rolled. Every team is working hard now to get in on the big prizes which will be given to the first eight. Lambert Bros. are at work on the big cup that will be presented to the winning team, and it will be when finished the handsomest trophy ever hung up for a bowling tournament in New York.

The games were disappointing from the standpoint of high scoring. Baysides had rather an easy thing of it in the first game with the Delmars, winning out by 43 pins. The Delmars came right back, however, and beat the Vendon.es by 41 pins, and then the latter team surprised every one by turning the tables on the Baysides and beating them badly by a score of 916 to 889. The scores:

McGann's half-hearted effort to Dahlen counted him out to Doyle. Bresnahan did likewise with the same result. Babb smote thrice vainly, the band played and the rooters chortied with glee. No runs.

Doyle's gentle bounder to Lauder clipped him at first. Dahlen accepted Matty's four bequests and walked. Flood's dewdrop to Mathewson was tossed to Babb too late to catch Dahlen, but the shortstop's quick throw to McGann nipped Flood at the bag. Jacklitch fanned after three unconscious attempts to assassinate the upmire on ford lifts. No runs.
